Updated the SIG/Chapter Website within the past calendar year. *

Yes

What type of Diversity and Inclusion activities or considerations has your Community incorporated during 2018? In your response, please include what aspects of diversity or inclusion are important to your community.

This past year we created an ad-hoc committee that would help support women in the nominations of the AIS awards. This was a very successful endeavor and as a result, we had 26 females nominated for AIS awards and 6 females were given awards.

We have also helped support the effort to encourage women in IS academic positions by posting job openings on our website and via our email distribution list as a way to support the diversity and inclusion requirements of compnies.

Comments

The group continues to grow in terms of numbers on an international level. This particular college is not research-based, but we were very successful in implementing a formal mentoring program where we pair mentors with mentees within the college. This was a major effort and required a bit of data collection from members in order to pair people together for a good fit. We also had an ad-hoc committee that helped ensure females were nominated accordingly in the AIS Awards process.

This was also a major effort. We would like to recognize these efforts for the College.

Additional comments and suggestions about the annual report form.

As a college, we would like to propose that colleges have some differences in evaluation than the SIGs. Because our college is not research-based, we would like to have the ability to be recognized for other factors. Every year we strive to be an outstanding college and promote projects that support our mission which is to :

1) Provide a forum for discourse between those interested in furthering the accomplishments, contributions, and careers of women scholars in information systems. 2) Provide a forum for a discourse between those in the AIS Women's Network and members of the broader IS scholarly discipline. 3) Facilitate mentorship relationships that support the activities of women scholars in information systems.

We would like to see a way to recognize those colleges that work to support and further their mission through member based projects outside of research – Section B on the report.

BYLAWS
ASSOCIATION FOR INFORMATION SYSTEMS
WOMEN'S NETWORK

ARTICLE I
PURPOSE AND ACTIVITIES

SECTION 1. NAME.

The name of this organization shall be the Association for Information Systems Women's Network and hereafter referred to as the College.

SECTION 2. STATEMENT OF PURPOSE.

The AIS Women's Network is a college of the Association for Information Systems (AIS). The purpose of the College is to promote a network for supporting women scholars in information systems and to enables mentorship relationships that are crucial to speed the success of women in the information systems field.

SECTION 3. ACTIVITIES.

The AIS Women's Network regularly meets for AIS events such as ICIS, AMCIS, ECIS, and PACIS; along with other non-AIS venues where its members may assemble. These meetings are aiming for,

- Providing a forum for discourse between those interested in furthering the accomplishments, contributions, and careers of women scholars in information systems.
- Providing a forum for a discourse between those in the AIS Women's Network and members of the broader IS scholarly discipline.
- Facilitating mentorship relationships that support the activities of women scholars in information systems

All College activities must be in concert with the Constitution and Bylaws of AIS. The Executive Committee of the College may propose additional activities.

ARTICLE II
MEMBERSHIP

SECTION 1. MEMBERSHIP

Membership in The AIS Women's Network is open to anyone supportive of women in IS and who is a member of AIS in good standing .

SECTION 3. MEMBER RIGHTS.

Each member in good standing shall have the right to vote, participate in all College and related AIS activities, and hold office in the College.

SECTION 4. TERMINATION OF MEMBERSHIP.

Resignation. A member of the College may terminate his or her membership at any time by submitting a letter of resignation to the Executive Committee, or by removing the College from his or her membership portal list.

Expulsion. A member may be expelled for conduct deemed prejudicial to the College by a two-thirds majority of the individual members in attendance at a general business meeting of the College where a quorum is present, provided that the member shall first have been served with a written notice explaining the reason(s) for the proposed expulsion, and shall be given an opportunity to challenge the proposed expulsion to those in attendance at the general business meeting.

ARTICLE III MEETINGS OF MEMBERS

SECTION 1. ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

An annual general meeting (AGM) shall be held to install officers (if required by terms of office) and to conduct such business as required. The time, location, and other details of the meeting shall be determined by the Executive Committee of the College and communicated to the membership.

SECTION 2. NOTICE OF MEETINGS.

A written or other notice stating the place, time, date, and hour of meetings shall be delivered to the membership at least two (2) weeks prior to the meeting. If e-mailed, such notice shall be delivered to the e-mail address of each member as it appears on the records of the College. The AIS Executive Director shall also be notified of all College meetings within said time frame.

SECTION 3. QUORUM.

Prior notice of the AGM and general business meetings having been given, 20% of the College members shall constitute a quorum for the purpose of such meetings of the College. If a quorum is not present, the AGM or general business meeting shall be adjourned until a quorum can be obtained. A quorum is not required for other meetings or events of the College.

SECTION 4. VOTING.

Each member in good standing with the College shall be entitled to one vote on business pertaining to the College. Decisions shall be by a majority of those participating and eligible to vote. On matters of general business, voting may be conducted by any means chosen by the Executive Committee, including email. In regard to the election of officers, voting may be conducted by any means chosen by the Election Committee, including email. In regard to both election of officers and matters of general business, all members who are eligible to vote have both absentee and proxy voting rights.

ARTICLE IV EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

SECTION 1. MEMBERS OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The Executive committee shall consist of the officers of the College, and the future Co-Chairs. The Current Co-Chairs (Section V.1) shall serve as the Chairs of the Executive Committee.

SECTION 2. DUTIES OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The Executive Committee shall serve as the governing authority of the College. The Executive Committee shall manage the property, business, and affairs of the College. The Executive Committee may exercise all such powers of the College as defined by these bylaws and the bylaws of AIS. The Executive Committee shall, in furtherance of, but not in limitation of its powers, and subject to review by AIS, have the authority and power to: represent the members of the College for all matters, internal and external; establish policies and practices for the College; and approve broad arrangements for all College activities.

SECTION 3. MEETINGS OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

There shall be at least one annual meeting of the Executive Committee. Additional meetings may be called by the Chair or by at least two members of the Executive Committee. The meetings shall be held at a time, place, and manner designated by the Chair. Notice of the meetings shall be given in writing or orally at least two (2) weeks prior to the meeting. Other methods of meeting in addition to face-to-face may be used.

SECTION 4. QUORUM.

Presence of more than one-half of the members of the Executive Committee shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at any meeting of the Executive Committee.

SECTION 5. VOTING.

Decisions shall be by a simple majority of those present and voting. The Chair may exercise a casting vote if the need arises.

SECTION 6. PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

Robert's Rules of Order shall govern all parliamentary procedure unless otherwise specified.

ARTICLE V

OFFICERS AND MEMBERS OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

SECTION 1. OFFICERS.

The officers of the College shall consist of the Current Co-Chairs, Immediate Past Co-Chairs, Future Co-Chairs, PhD Representative, Treasurer and the Funding Chair. No person may hold multiple offices at the same time. The officers of the College must be members in good standing with the College and AIS. The period of each office is two years unless decided otherwise by the Executive Committee. However, extensions beyond two years may also be approved by a majority of the membership present at the AGM. In either case, the term of the office may be no more than three years.

SECTION 3. NOMINATION.

A Nominations and Election Committee chaired and selected by the Past Co-Chairs shall seek and nominate at least one candidate for each Officer position to be filled on the Executive Committee no later than 30 days prior to the annual election. Nominations may also be made by any member eligible to vote by sending the name of the nominee to the Election Committee no later than 30 days prior to the annual election providing the nominee has given prior consent.

SECTION 4. ELECTIONS.

The annual election of the College officers will be held during the annual general meeting of the College by a method to be chosen by the Nominations and Election Committee. Each voting member, as described in Article III.4 above, shall be entitled to one vote. Voting shall be conducted in a manner deemed appropriate by the Election Committee. The nominee receiving the most votes cast shall fill each position.

SECTION 5. REMOVAL.

Any officer or member of the Executive Committee may be removed by a vote of the majority of the voting members at an annual general or business meeting of the College, or by postal or e-mail voting by 25% of the College membership. Notification to the voting members that a vote will be conducted for removal of an officer or member of the Executive Committee must be made no less than two (2) weeks prior to the vote being taken.

SECTION 6. RESIGNATIONS.

Any officer or member of the Executive Committee may resign at any time by giving written notice, including e-mail, to the Co-Chairs. Such resignation shall take effect at the time specified therein; and, unless otherwise specified, the acceptance of such resignation shall not be necessary to make it effective. The Co-Chairs may resign at any time by giving written notice, including e-mail, to the AIS Executive Director and the AIS Vice-Co-Chairs of SIGs, Chapters, and Colleges.

SECTION 7. VACANCIES.

For offices other than Co-Chairs-Elect, a vacancy occurring in the elected offices for any reason shall be filled by appointment by the Co-Chairs with the approval of the majority of the Executive Committee. A vacancy in the office of Co-Chairs or Co-Chairs-Elect shall be filled by election, regular or special, by the College's membership. Such appointment shall continue until the next annual general meeting. In the event that a vacancy occurs in the first year of a three-year term, the person elected at the next annual meeting shall serve the remainder of the vacated term.

SECTION 8. DUTIES OF THE CURRENT CO-CHAIRS.

The Current Co-Chairs shall serve as co-chief-executive-officers of the College. The Current Co-Chairs shall perform all duties that pertain to their office and that may be assigned by the Executive Committee. The Co-Chairs primary duties shall be:

- Preside over all meetings of the members of the College.
- Call and chair all Executive Committee meetings.
- Designate all committees and their chairpersons, with the concurrence of the Executive Committee.
- Supervise all other officers of the College and see that their duties are properly performed.
- Serve as organizers for all College activities (section I.3)
- Accept and receive donations, gifts, devises, and bequests.
- Coordinate the College's activities and conduct any necessary business with external organizations.
- Ensure that all orders and resolutions of the Executive Committee are put into effect.
- Submit at the annual general meeting an annual activity report of the operations of the College for the preceding year.

- Initiate and manage on-going communications with individuals as they become eligible for members, insure that they are added to email and other lists and are apprised of opportunities presented by membership
- Submit the annual activity report to the AIS VP for SIGS, Chapters, and Colleges.
- Assure the timely submission of all requested forms, documents, and communications to and from AIS.

SECTION 9. DUTIES OF THE FUNDING CHAIRS.

The Funding Chair is responsible for insuring that resources are available for all planned College activities (section 1.3).

SECTION 10. DUTIES OF THE TREASURER

The Treasurer shall be the chief financial officer of the College and shall perform all duties that pertain to the office of Treasurer and that may be assigned by the Co-Chairs and the Executive Committee. The treasurer's primary duties shall be to:

- Maintain the financial records of the College and produce an annual financial report.
- Review all applications for membership and maintain a membership roster.
- Submit an annual Financial Report to the AIS Vice President of SIGs, Chapters and Colleges.

SECTION 11. DUTIES OF FUTURE-CO-CHAIRS.

The Future Co-Chairs shall serve as organizers for all future College activities (section 1.3) and other duties as assigned by the Current Co-Chairs.

SECTION 12. DUTIES OF THE IMMEDIATE PAST CO-CHAIRS.

The Immediate Past Co-Chairs the College shall serve as a voting member of the Executive Committee and as the chair of the Nominating and Election committee. The Immediate Past Co-Chair will assist the Co-Chairs as required, and chair annual and special meetings in the absence of the Co-Chairs.

SECTION 13. DUTIES OF THE PHD REPRESENTATIVE.

The PhD Representative shall serve as a liaison officer to promote and facilitate participation of women PhD students in information systems in all College activities (section 1.3)

ARTICLE VI COMMITTEES

SECTION 1. SPECIAL COMMITTEES.

The Co-Chairs, with the concurrence of the Executive Committee, may establish and appoint special committees, not having and exercising the authority of the Executive Committee, to aid and assist the Co-Chairs and the Executive Committee in the management of the affairs of the College.

SECTION 2. NOMINATING AND ELECTION COMMITTEE.

Not less than forty (40) days prior to the annual election of officers, the Immediate Past Co-Chairs, with the consent of the Executive Committee, shall appoint at least two (2) additional members to a Nominating and Election Committee chaired by the Immediate Past Co-Chairs. Members of this Committee must be voting members of the College. This committee will prepare a slate of nominees for College offices and conduct the subsequent annual election of officers of the College according to the processes and procedures set out in preceding sections.

ARTICLE VII FINANCES

SECTION 1. FISCAL YEAR.

The fiscal year of the College shall coincide with the fiscal year of AIS (July 1-June 30).

SECTION 2. FINANCIAL ACCOUNTS.

The Treasurer shall establish and maintain bank accounts for the financial assets of the College. Only the Co-Chairs and the Treasurer may make deposits and withdrawals from these bank accounts.

SECTION 3. ASSETS.

The College may buy, own, and/or dispose of assets, financial or otherwise, that are necessary or desirable in the pursuit of the College's goals and objectives.

SECTION 4. LIABILITIES.

The College shall not enter into any contract or agreement or undertake any action that could result in any obligation or liability to AIS without the express written consent of the AIS Executive Director.

SECTION 5. FINANCIAL REPORTS.

The Treasurer shall provide to the Executive Committee an annual written report of the financial status of the College, which any member of the College may inspect upon request. This report shall also be submitted annually to AIS, through the AIS Vice President of SIGs, Chapters and Colleges. An independent representative appointed by the Executive Committee shall review the Treasurer's accounts annually at the end of the fiscal year.

SECTION 6. FUND DEPOSITS.

All funds of the College shall be promptly deposited in qualified bank accounts established in the College's name by the College Treasurer, or held in AIS accounts on behalf of the College. Any funds acquired by the College shall be clearly marked for and deposited to the account of the College. Funds of the College shall not be co-mingled with the funds of any other entity notwithstanding that said funds may be deposited with and managed by AIS.

SECTION 7. FUND DISBURSEMENTS.

Checks for all disbursements of funds of the College shall be signed by the Treasurer, or by the President, or by the AIS Executive Director (or designee).

SECTION 8. DISSOLUTION.

Prior to dissolution of the College, a special meeting shall be convened to nominate representatives to manage the disposition of the assets of the College. After paying or making provision for the payment of all the liabilities of the College, the remaining assets of the College shall be remitted to AIS.

ARTICLE VIII AMENDMENTS

SECTION 1. AMENDMENTS

Amendments to these bylaws shall be adopted by two-thirds (2/3) vote of the members present at any regular meeting held one month or more after a regular meeting at which the proposed amendment(s) were read, or after giving written notice thereof (electronic is acceptable) to the membership one week prior to the action on such amendment(s).

Section 2. APPROVAL

These bylaws and all amendments or additions thereto shall not become effective until approved by the Association for Information Systems.

These Bylaws were adopted and approved on _____, 20_____.

We have a packed newsletter this issue! Thank you to everyone who contributed. We are nearing the end of 2018 and have had so much exciting collaboration among our members. In addition, we had a great turnout at our annual Women's Networking event at AMCIS in New Orleans and we are expecting another great turnout at our Women's Networking lunch at ICIS in San Francisco.

Please take a few minutes to learn more about what is happening both inside and outside the AIS Women's Network.

AISWN Reception at AMCIS 2018

August 12, 2018 | New Orleans, Louisiana

We had a wonderful time at the AIS Women's network reception at AMCIS with close to 90 participants and lots of good discussion. Here are a few pictures from the event. We invited potential male advocates to come and mingle. The event was sponsored by Prospect Press, the Association for IS and your contributions. More pictures are available here:

Ways Academicians can Support Women in the Academy

*By Cindy Riemenschneider
Associate Dean for Research and Faculty Development
Professor of Information Systems
Baylor University*

Based on the international salary survey conducted by the AACSB in 2015-16, just 20.4% of all full professors and 32.7% of all associate professors were women.¹ Moving the Needle, an executive group designed by the American Council on Education to advance women in higher education leadership, has proposed the following goals: ²

1. Generate a national sense of urgency elevating the need for advancing women in higher education leadership positions.
2. Encourage governing boards and other higher education institutional decision- & policy-making bodies to consider practices for recruiting and hiring women to chief executive offices.
3. Achieve women's advancement to mid-level and senior-level positions in higher education administration by building capacities in women and in institutions.
4. Suggest practices and models that recognize success in advancing women in higher education.

To further assist these initiatives, I would like to share actions that our university has taken to support women in the academy. Fortunately, we have a female President at Baylor University who is supportive and encouraging of women in academe.

First, the office of the President hosted a panel discussion of four female faculty members' journey to achieve the Full Professor rank. The panelists were from MIS, Biology, English, and Theatre Arts. Each woman had a different and unique story, including the time it took to achieve this rank, as well as the different challenges and facilitators she encountered along the way. One woman shared that she had four children during the time she was working for promotion, while another woman's children were grown by the time she reached this level in her academic career. The audience consisted of both men and women at a variety of academic ranks. One significant take away from this panel was that there is no "perfectly planned progression" for how it should be done; however, we should strongly encourage junior and midcareer faculty along the way.

Second, our university provides support for several women's research writing groups. These writing groups take a four hour block of time each week to write and work on research. There is accountability to one another in the group, a contract agreement is signed by each participant, and this time is protected. In the school of business, we host two such writing groups and provide a work space where there are no distractions from students or other faculty. -- continued on the next page

Third, an opportunity was organized by the graduate school for groups of female faculty to mentor multiple doctoral and masters female students. Because the groups were not discipline specific, the mix of faculty and students from a variety of disciplines enriched the conversations and provided the opportunity to share from multiple perspectives across a university. These groups met over a fall and spring semester. My husband and I hosted my group of graduate students for dinner in our home, and we knew it was a success when the young ladies stayed late into the night enjoying the conversation and card games!

These are just a few suggestions for actions that have been successfully implemented at Baylor University. Be bold and do not hesitate to ask one of your administrators to implement a similar initiative at your university showing support for women in the academy!

Association for IS Women's Network

From Jaime Winderler, Chair, Task Force on Social Inclusion

On behalf of Stacie Petter, Thomas Chapman, Kathy Chudoba, Emma Coleman, and Grace Fox

We recently asked the Women's Network to help us out by responding to our social inclusion survey. Out of all AIS communities represented in our sample, the Women's Network was the community with the largest number of respondents. Thank you AISWN for being a leader in this effort and model of social inclusion in our field! We released a report detailing the findings and recommendations from our task force on social inclusion. We hope you'll check it out at <https://aisnet.org/page/diversityinclusion>.

Because AISWN had such a great participation rate, our task force were able to provide a custom report that outlines how women AIS members feel about social inclusion. We hope it will serve as a basis for further discussion about the inclusion practices that AISWN already has underway (such as member nominations for awards, the task force on women in the AIS, etc.), in addition to identifying other efforts we can continue to advance. On that note I want to propose that we all consider and discuss the following questions which will be added to the 2019 AIS Annual Community report:

- (1) what does diversity and inclusion mean to AISWN?
- (2) how can AISWN become a more inclusive community?

If you're able to attend ICIS, we'd love to chat about these topics with you!

In memory of Eleanor W. Jordan July 7, 1945 – October 28, 2018

For the full obituary click here.

Eleanor Worley Jordan rolled with the punches from lung cancer, brain lesions, and cancer treatment for 5 years in amazing good spirits—an example to friends and family of how a good attitude can sustain happiness. Her husband Mel was an excellent caregiver. She had to mature further to accept her dependency on him for driving, making long trips, bicycling on Lady Bird Lake, help with meals, and vacations with their sons and granddaughters.

Eleanor began her computer career while working on an undergraduate math degree at The University of Texas. She completed her degree in 3 ½ long terms and moved with her husband and young son Newt to Fullerton, California where she wrote submarine and aircraft carrier software for North American Aviation. She met Mel Jordan on a business trip and returned to Austin to marry him. Her first job back in Austin was developing business software for the Texas Department of Transportation. She applied for a system analysis position with the Texas Education Agency, but the recruiter said he couldn't hire such a young woman to supervise males even though she had the skills he needed. That was 1975.

Eleanor decided a PhD in Statistics would be a way to enrich her career—combining her research interests with her computer experience. As a University of Texas graduate student, she was hired to teach programming and statistics classes. To her surprise she was offered a full time faculty position the year she completed her coursework and dissertation. Her work included leadership in the creation of the Management Information Systems (MIS) in 1980, a program that soon earned high national rankings which continue. She was a creative and enthusiastic teacher from graduate days until she decided to retire in 2002 from her full time teaching and management position. After a four year break from full time academic work, she joyously returned to teaching her favorite systems development class, totaling 34 years while revising her 3rd textbook to be an e-book, updated and free for her classes.

As a UT professor, she focused her attention on improving education in information systems, not just at UT but as a member of national committees, including the ACM Education Board during one of the major revisions of the ACM model curriculum. She also contributed to the initial DPMA model curriculum. In addition to her research journal publications, she was an invited contributor to both The Encyclopedia of Computers and the Encyclopedia of Statistical Sciences. She co-authored a statistics text and two MIS textbooks, including, Systems Development: A Project Management Approach.

AISWN Mentoring

Last year we began a mentoring program within the AIS WN College. Part of the AISWN mission is to facilitate mentorship relationships that support the activities of women scholars in information systems and this program aligns with that goal. Last year we paired 8 mentees with 8 mentors. This Fall we sent out another call for mentors and mentees and again paired 8 mentees with 5 mentors. We are introducing a mentoring award that will be presented annually to a mentor who has demonstrated excellence in their mentoring role. A committee was formed to identify the award criteria and also to evaluate the nominations. The committee members include: Jacqueline Corbett, Amany Elbanna, Dawn Owens, and Cindy Reimenschneider.

Nomination Process

Complete the online nomination form. <https://goo.gl/forms/i6EcEDA26zsoPjTu1>

Nomination forms are due by December 2nd at 11:59 pm CST. The award winner will be announced at ICIS 2018.

Evaluation Process

All nominations will be reviewed by the AISWN mentoring award committee.

Eligibility Criteria

- Both the mentor and the mentee are members of the AIS AISWN.
- The mentor and mentee must be in the mentoring relationship for a minimum of 6 months.
- The mentor must be someone outside of the mentee's dissertation committee.
- The mentor must be nominated by the mentee.
- The mentoring relationship does not have to be part of the AISWN sponsored mentoring program, it can be a relationship that was established through the AISWN, or individual's own personal network.

Evaluation Criteria

Below are some recommended responsibilities of mentors. This criteria will be used to judge the mentor nominations.

Mentor Responsibilities:

- Meet with your mentee and/or engage in mentoring activities in-person or virtual
- Willingly share your experience and professional success in the organization
- Stay accessible, committed, and engaged during the length of the mentorship relationship
- Listen well, provide open and candid feedback
- Offer encouragement through genuine positive reinforcement
- Be a positive role model
- Share "lessons learned" from your own experiences
- Be a resource and a sounding board
- Keep your conversations confidential

Candidate Bios and Statements

Jacqueline Corbett - Bio

Associate Professor of Management Information Systems in the Faculty of Business Administration at Université Laval in Quebec City, Canada. She holds a Ph.D. (MIS), an M.B.A (Finance) and a B.A. (Honours, Business Administration). Prior to obtaining her Ph.D., Jacqueline worked for 15-years in the FinTech sector. Jacqueline's current research interests concern the design and use of information systems (IS) to support sustainability. Jacqueline has published research in top IS and management journals, such as Information Systems Journal, JAIS, Journal of Business Ethics, and Strategic Entrepreneurship Journal, and has presented at international IS conferences, including ICIS, HICSS, AMCIS, and ECIS. Jacqueline has been a member of the AIS Women's Network since 2010. Jacqueline appreciates the difficulties of balancing home and work tasks and has navigated many common challenges for women, having been a single parent to two young children during her professional career and doctoral studies. Jacqueline has benefited from the strong support and mentoring from senior women in the IS discipline and tries to continue in this tradition through her supervision of female students in both master's and doctoral programs. Jacqueline is fluent in both English and French.

Potential directions for AWN

A lot has changed in the AIS Women's Network since I attended my first women's networking breakfast eight years ago. The AWN is firmly established within the AIS thanks to the vision and hard work of the founding members and the women who have taken up the leadership challenge! As co-chair, I would continue to advance the initiatives already underway by AWN to increase opportunities for networking and mentoring, the participation of women in AIS leadership positions, and the recognition of women's successes in our field. In addition, I have a particular interest in helping to build successful research collaborations among women. As many of us know and have experienced, finding and developing research collaborations that are mutually satisfying and productive can be difficult. The AWN has taken some steps to help women build collaborations by having thematic discussion tables at our meetings. I would like to go further, creating a platform that allows women to seek out other members with interests or expertise in particular areas. Through such a platform (we are in IS, aren't we?), women could offer to provide 'friendly reviews' on a paper pre-submission for a colleague, invite collaborations on research projects, or seek out women to serve as external examiners on doctoral committees. Focusing on specific activities and opportunities would allow us to move from "let's talk" to "let's do". A second opportunity would be to develop stronger international connections between our members, as this is a key priority for many of our universities today. With a critical mass in place, we could 'twin' universities in different cities or regions in order to encourage more collaboration and exchange. Third, I would like to see AWN become more involved with women in IS practice. The number of women CIOs is still small, but increasingly women are taking on senior IS roles in organizations. It would be interesting to invite these women to AWN meetings (for example, a Women's CIO Forum) to celebrate their successes, learn from their experiences, and develop potential research opportunities based on their challenges. In cooperation with women IS professionals, we could establish outreach programs to get more young women interested in our field and create favourable conditions for retaining them in rewarding IS careers, whether as professionals or researchers, over the long-term.

Candidate Bios and Statements

Sue Feldman - Bio

RN, MEd, PhD, currently serves as Director of Graduate Programs in Health Informatics in the School of Health Professions at the University of Alabama at Birmingham. Dr. Feldman has dual Associate Professor appointments in the School of Health Professions and in the School of Medicine as an Associate Scientist in the Informatics Institute. Her research focuses on health information systems. Dr. Feldman also serves on the Health Informatics Accreditation Council for the Commission on Accreditation for Health Informatics and Information Management (CAHIIM), chairs Graduate Health Informatics accreditation site visit teams, and has studied and developed graduate level health informatics curriculum. As a Registered Nurse (RN) for over 30 years, she brings a unique clinical and informatics blend to everything she does, grounding policy and theory with practice. Dr. Feldman has published in a variety of top-tier peer-reviewed journals and conference proceedings, and served as program chair for several national forums. Dr. Feldman has a Masters degree in Education and a PhD in Education and also in Information Systems and Technology from Claremont Graduate University.

AIS Women's Network Statement

As co-chair of the AIS Women's Network, I would support the current mission of AISWN and support the current governance structure and bylaws. Currently, I do not see vision or value statements. I would like to work with the group to create vision and value statements and values and build upon them to expand our breadth and depth of initiatives. I would also like to build on the leadership event at the last AMCIS networking reception; there is something very special about women helping women. With most universities focusing on diversity, equity, and inclusion, I would like to broaden how AISWN contributes to and support this in the academic culture.

Isabel Ramos - Bio

Associate Professor (PhD, Habilitation) at the Department of Information Systems of the University of Minho (UMinho). The research interests include the adoption of information systems for knowledge management and open innovation. Isabel Ramos is President of the Portuguese Chapter of the Association for Information Systems and elected Chair of the Technical Committee 8 (Information Systems) of IFIP – International Federation for Information Systems. She was awarded the IFIP Outstanding Service Award and IFIP Silver Core Award. She is the coordinator at UMinho of the Horizon 2020 project - EQUAL-IST - Gender Equality in Information Science and Technology.

AIS Women's Network Statement

I see the Women's Network creating opportunities for sharing knowledge about the diversity of academic settings and research challenges where female researchers develop their careers. This knowledge may be the basis for the development of mentoring strategies adapted to different academic and research cultures. Discussing gender equality issues, equality plans at universities, and the different challenges of implementing these plans can also provide opportunities to diversify activities and resources available. In this way the WN will become truly global and a welcoming platform.

Greetings everyone! We are gearing up for AMCIS 2018 in New Orleans , and I want to take a minute to tell you about some exciting activities happening. If you are planning to attend AMCIS be sure to drop by one of the following events:

AIS Community Meet & Greet
Thursday, August 16
2:00 p.m. - 3:00 p.m.
Room: Empire CD

AISWN Networking Reception – Be sure to register!
Thursday, August 16
7:30 p.m. – 9:00 p.m.
Foster 2

We would like to thank AIS - Matti Rossi and Prospect Press for sponsoring the networking reception!

AISWN's mission is to (1) provide a forum for those interested in in furthering the accomplishments, contributions, and careers of women scholars in information systems (2) Provide a forum for a discourse between those in the AIS Women's Network and members of the broader IS scholarly discipline, (3) Facilitate mentorship relationships that support the activities of women scholars in information systems.

Feel free to reach out to me or Gondy with any questions.

Association for IS Women's Ne

Dear Members of AIS Women's Network,

It was great to meet many of you at AMCIS 2018. We had 90+ people attend the networking reception! We would like to thank you for your continued support in several ways to make this group stronger. This year we have been working on mentoring and have a few requests. Please see the following calls.

Call for Mentors/Mentees

We had many people sign up as Mentor and Mentees, the last time we sent a callout. We are back again with the opportunity to sign up. If you are interested in becoming a Mentor or a Mentee please use this link -

<https://goo.gl/forms/buu7xHMeI40vAQ5n2>. Deadline – October 10, 2018

NOTE: This is for New Mentors and Mentees. However, if you are already signed up in one of the capacities and would like to take up more responsibilities, please signup again. We are always looking for mentors.

Call for Committee – Mentoring Award

We are pulling together a Committee to present the Inaugural Mentoring Awards before the end of this year, preferably at ICIS 2018. The functions of this committee would be as follows:

1. Charter the criteria for the award.
2. Review the nominations sent in for the award.

Interested members can respond to this email by October 10, 2018.

Thanks again.

Warm Regards,
Dawn and Gondy

AISWN Reports

From the Desk of the Co-Chairs

Welcome to a new academic year! Its been a great start for the AISWN College. AISWN has a long standing tradition of excellence and we are committed to carrying on that tradition. Last year we created history by becoming the 1st AIS College. This year we were recognized as an Outstanding Community. The Outstanding Community designation celebrates the exceptional work of AIS Communities and their contributions toward supporting the mission of AIS through the advancement of knowledge and the promotion of excellence in the practice and study of information systems. This is what the community wrote about us - We thoroughly enjoyed reading your annual report and learning about your community's accomplishments in 2017. The communities receiving the Outstanding Chapter, College, or SIG recognition excelled in operations, member communications, educational and/or professional development events, and research publications.

Whenever the opportunity arises, we want to facilitate interaction in our group. We will have events at upcoming AMCIS 2018 and ICIS 2018. Hope to reconnect and meet many more of you at any of our future meetings!

AISWN Breakfast at ICIS 2017

December 12, 2017 | Seoul, South Korea

The AISWN Breakfast at ICIS 2017 was a success. We had more than 40 members and guests in attendance. Thanks to Cynthia Beath and Jane Fedorowicz for hosting the breakfast. Jason Thatcher and Matti Rossi also joined in and said a few words of welcome. Jane recognized the 1st timers, newly promoted and award winners, which served as a great ice breaker for the discussions that followed. The accomplishments from last year were discussed, which served as a great recap for all that was done in the year 2017.

A Word from the AIS President

It was great to see so many women nominated for AIS Fellowships this year, which seems to be a result of a concerted effort by the Women's Network. In 2017 46 % of the Fellow nominees were women and half of the Fellows were women, whereas in 2016 only 16 % of the nominees were women and 1/8 of the Fellows was a woman. It is worth noticing that nearly all of the nominees have been nominated in several years before they get the award and thus it is important to sustain the effort to have good nominees every year.

The fellows are expected to be exceptional researchers and also they are expected to have had a strong service record with an impact to the field and AIS. One great way of contributing is by taking part in AIS conference and council activities. Currently there are 10 vice president positions in the council, which are divided 5/5 between genders. The balance tilts currently as all elected presidents are male. There is a good likelihood that this starts changing during this election cycle, as two out of three president candidates are female. There are three positions to be filled at this time, the president from region 1, VP of conferences and region 2 representative. For two first positions there are two female and one male candidate, unfortunately, despite directed efforts by the election committee, the region 2 representative list is all male.

Prospect Press wants to publish your book

Are you having trouble finding a suitable textbook for a new course? Is your current textbook out-of-date or not keeping up with changes in technology, theory, or practice? Most new textbooks are written because a faculty member is fed up with the existing options or lack of options, and the best alternative is writing her own book. That's where Prospect Press comes in. Prospect Press is a woman-led textbook company with the mission of serving the IS curriculum. We welcome new authors and new ideas, particularly for IS courses that are under-served, emergent, or lack a defining or innovative textbook.

The first step in writing a new textbook is developing a proposal. Prospect Press will work with you to develop a strong proposal and will then send it out for peer review. If reviews indicate good potential and a promising market, the next step is a publishing contract that will include royalty information and a schedule of deliverables. Ideally, author and publisher will discuss these terms and come to an agreement that is realistic and satisfying for both parties. For guidelines on developing a proposal, please visit <https://prospectpressvt.com/join-us/proposal-guidelines/>. To start a discussion about a new project, contact beth.golub@prospectpressVT.com.

If you'd like this to be a table topic at the AIS Women's Network meeting at AMCIS 2018 in New Orleans, please send an email to Gondy Leroy at gondyleroy@gmail.com or Dawn Owens at dawn.owens@utdallas.edu.

From our friends at SIG Social Inclusion

In response to recommendations from the SIG Social Inclusion Task Force, the AIS has formed a new standing committee on Diversity and Inclusion. The Committee will be responsible for reviewing D&I efforts within the AIS. Concerns raised to AIS Council members or staff related to D&I will be brought forward to this standing committee to identify recommendations to be considered by AIS Council. Furthermore, the committee will examine the state of D&I on a periodic basis (e.g., every two years) to identify problems, successes, and opportunities to serve AIS members.

The committee is comprised of AIS members from all AIS regions (north and south).

Chair, Michelle Carter (President of SIGSI)

Region 1 Representatives: Renee Pratt (USA), Guillermo Rodriguez-Abitia (Mexico)

Region 2 Representatives: Andreas Eckhardt (Germany), Emma Coleman (South Africa)

Region 3 Representatives: Felix Tan (Australia), Rose Alinda Alias (Malaysia)

AIS Leadership Council Representative: Ryan Wright

First task: Prepare a draft AIS D&I Statement for consideration by the AIS Leadership Council at its June 2018 meeting. We're excited to begin!

Fun Facts

Jordana George, Baylor University, was asked to present to the Data Journalists of DC organization on Feb 22. She studies open data and data activism. She lectured on the history of data journalism and its roots in computer-aided reporting and open government data.

Jaime Windeler, University of Cincinnati, won the AIS Early Career Award and the 2017 Reviewer of the Year Award at The Database for Advances in Information Systems, where she was appointed senior editor. There is also family-addition-fun-fact to report: they recently adopted a cat, named Bert, who is a gentle giant tipping the scales at 16 pound.

Kathrin Figl, University of Innsbruck, was distinguished researcher of the month January 2018' of the Vienna University of Economics and Business (<https://www.wu.ac.at/en/research/wu-researchers/rom18/kathrin-figl/>) and also finished her venia legendi for Information Systems in January. In February 2018, she started her new position as Professor for Information Systems - at the Department of Information Systems, Production and Logistics Management at the University of Innsbruck (in Austria, in the middle of the beautiful alps).

Martha Snyder, Nova Southeastern University, reports that NSU College of Engineering and Computing held its first Women in Technology seminar Friday, Feb. 23, in collaboration with sponsors Ultimate Software, Chen Moore, LexisNexis, Align Innovation, Modernizing Medicine, FPL, and NSU's Student Government Association. The seminar, for students and people in the industry, was part of events celebrating Engineering and Technology Week, February 19-23, 2018. "This was an exciting opportunity for seminar participants to learn from successful women in technology fields," said Marti Snyder, who herself is in the Department of Information Systems and Cybersecurity.

Manju Ahuja, University of Louisville, and her co-authors won the HICSS Best Paper Award: Ahuja, M., P. Patel., and Suh, A. (2018), "The Right Tool for the Job: The Task-Technology Model of Media Use in Digital Activism", Proceedings of the 51st Hawaii International Conference on System Sciences (HICSS), (Hilo, Hawaii) (Best Paper Award, Digital and Social Media Track

Janine Elyse Aronson, University of Georgia, started playing the bagpipes two years ago. Having gone to Carnegie Mellon University, Janine developed a love for the pipes and finally decided it was time to learn to play them. She started playing the ukulele last summer, and has played guitar for decades. Janine is also a professional magicienne. Needless to say, she is into performance.

Upcoming Events

AISWN at AMCIS 2018

We will yet again host the AISWN Networking Reception. Please be sure to register for it as it is a great opportunity to connect with your friends and peers. More details about the event would be announced as we get close to the conference.

Also we are hosting a panel discussion on raising awareness of IS/IT within NCWIT and balancing the focus between IS/IT and CS. We would love to see you join in.

AISWN at ICIS 2018

We will host the AISWN Breakfast at the conference. Please let us know if you want to put together something special for the conference as we are still in the planning phases.

AISWN – Facts and Figures

- The AIS WN has 196 members
- Our Google group is 172 strong (email Gondy to be added).
- Congratulations to the AMCIS organization committee : 16 of the 28 organizers were women. And not in administrative roles. Wow! Keep it up.
