

Queen's University, Smith School of Business Tenure Track Position in Digital Technology

Smith School of Business at Queen's University (Kingston, Ontario, Canada) invites applications for a tenure-track position in Digital Technology (Information Systems), at the rank of Assistant Professor, with a preferred starting date of July 1, 2022. In the instance that an exceptional candidate is identified, a tenured appointment at the rank of Associate Professor may be considered.

Qualifications

Candidates must have a PhD or equivalent degree completed at the start of the appointment. The main criteria for selection are academic and teaching excellence. The successful candidate will exhibit strong potential for innovative and high-quality scholarly research leading to top-tier peer-assessed publications and the securing of external research funding, as well as strong potential for outstanding teaching contributions at both undergraduate and graduate levels, and an ongoing commitment to academic and pedagogical excellence in support of the School's various public and private programs. The successful candidate will be required to make contributions through service to the School, the University, and/or the broader academic community, and contribute to fostering an equitable, diverse and inclusive academic and work environment. In addition to the above, a successful candidate for an Associate Professor level position will have a strong track record of publications in top management journals, and a strong teaching record.

Smith School of Business

Smith School of Business is a leader in innovation, with ties to industry, government, non-profits and other higher education institutions, to advance the impact of research, teaching, and service. The school has a number of established research centres and institutes that support a wide range of research interests including a world-class ecosystem in Analytics and AI (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=uwFR-NmAxxA>) that was awarded the 2020 Informs UPS George D. Smith Prize for Innovation in Higher Education. Other growing ecosystems include Innovation and Entrepreneurship, Social Impact and Sustainability, and Digital Transformation.

Digital Technology Area Group

The Digital Technology Area Group (formerly known as Management Information Systems) comprises strong researchers with expertise in digital transformation, digital strategy and innovation, digital entrepreneurship, digital feedback, analytics and AI, virtual teams, agile project management, IT usage and impact, healthcare IT, green IT, and the dark side of IT. Our group members have been highly successful in publishing in top management and IS journals. A key focus of the area group is 'digital' with several faculty as founding members of the AIS Special Interest Group in Digital Innovation Transformation and Entrepreneurship (SIG DITE). The group has a digital innovation research hub, a nascent digital transformation research group, and is in the process of building programs and research expertise in Digital Product Management. The group is highly collaborative with other area groups in the school such as strategy, analytics, marketing and organizational behavior. We welcome applicants with a diverse set of research interests, including those that support interdisciplinary collaborations.

The City

The University is situated on the traditional territories of the Haudenosaunee and Anishinaabe, in historic Kingston on the shores of Lake Ontario. Kingston's residents enjoy an outstanding quality of life with a wide range of cultural and creative opportunities. Visit Inclusive Queen's for information on equity, diversity and inclusion resources and initiatives.

Kingston is a unique Canadian city of 125,000 with a distinct blend of history, recreation, industry and learning. Kingston offers unique waterfront living with many recreational opportunities. It is within a two-and-a-half hour drive (two-hour train ride) to the commercial, industrial and political hubs of Toronto, Montreal, and the nation's capital, Ottawa, and a thirty minute drive from the international bridge linking Ontario and upstate New York. The city is also the origin of the historic Rideau Canal system –a UNESCO International Heritage site.

How to Apply

The effective date of the appointment will be July 1, 2022, but is flexible.

The University invites applications from all qualified individuals. Queen's is strongly committed to employment equity, diversity, and inclusion in the workplace and encourages applications from Black, racialized/visible minority and Indigenous/Aboriginal people, women, persons with disabilities, and 2SLGBTQ+ persons. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, in accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, Canadian citizens and permanent residents of Canada will be given priority.

The University will provide support in its recruitment processes to applicants with disabilities, including accommodation that takes into account an applicant's accessibility needs. If you require accommodation during the interview process, please contact: Roshan Udit at roshan.udit@queensu.ca. Academic staff at Queen's University are governed by a Collective Agreement between the University and the Queen's University Faculty Association (QUFA), which is posted at <http://queensu.ca/facultyrelations/faculty-librarians-and-archivists/collective-agreement> and at <http://www.qufa.ca>.

To comply with Federal laws, the University is obliged to gather statistical information about how many applicants for each job vacancy are Canadian citizens / permanent residents of Canada. Applicants need not identify their country of origin or citizenship; however, all applications must include one of the following statements: "I am a Canadian citizen / permanent resident of Canada"; OR, "I am not a Canadian citizen / permanent resident of Canada". Applications that do not include this information will be deemed incomplete. Your application cover letter must include one of these two citizenship statements.

In addition, the impact of certain circumstances that may legitimately affect a nominee's record of research achievement will be given careful consideration when assessing the nominee's research productivity. Candidates are encouraged to provide any relevant information about their experience and/or career interruptions.

Applicants should submit:

- A cover letter
(including one of the two statements regarding Canadian citizenship/permanent resident status specified in the previous paragraph)
- A current Curriculum Vitae
(including a list of publications)
- Evidence of research, including a job market paper and a Research Statement

- A Statement of teaching interests and experience (including course outlines and evaluations if available)
- A Diversity Statement speaking to previous and/or potential contributions to diversity through teaching, research, professional activity, or service
- Three letters of reference

Deadline for applications: July 25, 2021

The position will remain open until filled.
